

줄기세포학

Stem cell Biology

This course will provide sight of view for stem cells biology as a future regenerative medicine. During this coursework, students are expected to understand principle of stem cell biology through basic nature of stem cells, how stem cells are differentiated to each cell type related with disease and the roles of extracellular microenvironment in stem cell fate determination.