

중앙대사학

Cancer Metabolism

This course will provide sight of view for Cancer biology as a future targeted medicine. During this coursework, students are expected to understand the principle of cancer and tumor biology through origin/basic traits of cancer cell and how cancer is initiated and developed to each tissue type/organs-specific cancer. Lecture by instructor and presentation for the textbook and related journal articles by students will be repeated for each of topics.